

Description of Applications

Studious: The studious application allows the user to keep track of when their homework is due for the individual classes that they have. Just typing in the date an assignment is due or the next test you have will allow the application to remind you to complete the task at hand making sure nothing can be forgotten. I like this application a lot, but it is an application that is not available on the itunes store.

In Class: This application won the 2011 award for best high school student application. This application is similar to Studious, but it is easier to use. This application is 100% school based, it will help anyone organize their assignments and it will also remind the user before the assignments are due to make sure that they are completed on time.

My Homework: This is another application that organizes your tests and homework assignment due dates with the reminder before the date. This application is completely school based and will most likely not work with out of school activities. This is similar to In Class, and Studious, but easier to use and a simpler format.

Easy Note + To Do: This application is a very general organizational application. This will help the user keep track of things that they have to do in and outside of school. The downside is that it isn't as helpful at organizing all of the information that a person may put into the application.

iStudiez Pro: This application has everything that a student could possibly need. Like most of the other applications it lets you write down your assignments and test dates and it will tell you that it is coming up so you don't forget about it. The feature that separates this from the others is that using the apple cloud technology you can see all of your assignment dates on all of your apple devices, so the parents of the user can stay on top of the due dates as well. It also will connect with the apple calendars so if you have soccer practice or a different after school activity it will remind you of that as well.

iHomework: This is another general application that will keep all of your school work organized under a certain class. This one is a little more complicated, but just simple enough to still be helpful.

43 Actions: This is a very general to-do list application. It will allow you to quickly put in anything that needs to be done later, then you put in a reminder to help you not forget. This is as general as it gets.

Toodledo: This is another general checklist application. This one is kind of confusing though, it has a lot of folders that things can be sorted into, and it could be hard to find things that you need to do. It does let you sort them by priority though so that is useful. I wouldn't want to use this one, but it is a decent option.
